

Practice 16: String Code using Arrays

Write a function that takes two arrays representing strings and swaps the last character in the two strings. For example, if called with `cat` and `book` it should change them to `cak` and `boot`. If either string is empty, then the function should do nothing.

```
void swapEnd( char A[], char B[])
{
```